

Unknown

Thursday, 17 February 2011 10:44

---

Liam Neeson continues to ride the success of Taken into more action-thriller territory with Unknown, a movie where he wakes up from a coma only to find that his identity has been stolen. Directed by Jaume Collet-Serra (Orphan, House Of Wax), Unknown borrows heavily from the Bourne Identity, which is not necessarily a bad thing. A slick, fast-paced rollercoaster ride of a movie – well worth jumping on.

