

Kim takes a job in the Austrian alps as a chalet girl, looking after rich folk on their hols. In typical romcom fashion she falls for one of her employers and trains for a snowboarding competition whilst coming to terms with the death of her mother. Following a tried and tested formula, it's not going to win any prizes for originality but nevertheless it's still light frothy fun – just don't forget to leave your brain at home.

Etihad Airways named World's Leading Airline