

The fourth in the Underworld series sees the human race discovering the existence of the Vampire and Lycan clans; a battle follows to erase them

With new directors on board the underworld series is beginning to make more sense to us. The storyline is better and we feel we have seen a real fantasy film. If you're worried that you haven't seen the others in the series, fear not, you can watch this without leaving the cinema confused.