

Leggings are becoming a fashion staple in every lady's closet. I personally love to wear them when I am running errands or when I'm working. They are comfy, yet chic

However, looking for a head-turning pair can be tricky. Lucky for me this is no longer a problem, as I have found a hidden treasure.

I was recently introduced to PintsizedFashionista – a new line of fashionable leggings inspired by the latest fashion prints and trends, with the fabrics and materials sourced from the UAE and abroad.

The designers behind the beautiful collection are none other than Dubai's own version of the Olsen Twins and leading bloggers, Alizey and Saanieh Mirza – 16 and fabulous.

Leggings never go out of style

Thursday, 05 April 2012 12:01

---

With regular appearances in the Middle East's leading magazines such as Grazia and Harper's Bazaar, these ladies are now slowly taking over the fashion scene.

Their line will soon be available in selected stores, but for now, orders can be through their blog: pint-sizedfashionista.blogspot.com

Check out some of my favourite designs. Don't forget to share your favourites as well by dropping me a tweet @manar_alhinai